Report of Mr. Arabin, M.E.

"To the Proprietors of the Research Gold Mining Company.

"Gentlemen.—In compliance with the request in your acts of the 30th instant, I have inspected the mine known as the Research, situate at Adelong, and now keet to submit the following report and shetch description of same.

"The claim consists of a lesses from the Crown of eight scree and covers 608 feet in the line of reef known as the Victoria Adelong, the lede bearing about N. 6 W.

"There are two shafts in the claim, one of which (the main shaft) is down 340 feet on the underlay of the reef and is on one of the best in the district, requiring very little outlay for repairs, which can be effected when the little outlay for repairs, which can be effected when the

"There are two shafts in the claim, one of which (the main shaft) is down 340 feet on the underlay of the read and is on one of the best in the district, requiring very little outlay for repairs, which can be affected when the shaft is not required for raising stone. The pamp shaft is used as a part ladder way, and will be found very useful in eatching the surface drainage and as keeping the lower workings free from water of which there is very little coming in from below.

"The lode in this claim has been worked in a very irregular way, blocks of stone being taken out here and there, leaving the great built of the ground untouched, the greatest extent of levels being 173 feet at the 280 feet level, viz: 126 feet north, and 48 feet south from the shaft, thus leaving 365 feet at that level to be opened. From this point upwards the length of lode taken out diminishes until the old workings are reached about 100 feet fram the surface, so that the amount of backs available for stoping when the necessary levels are opened will be very large. The stone raised from the old workings was very rich, and below their level the returns from the various crushings (abstracts of which you hald), prove the stone to be highly surficeous, and whenever it is possible to get to the face of the workings the gold is visible in it, and the greeneral appearance of the stone leaves no doubt that it continues at least equality good.

"Before the stone left in the workings above the 280 feet level and south to admit of proper stoping, from this I estimate that quite 2000 tone of good stone will be available for runsbing at a low cost per ton. In this estimate I have allowed largedy for the bunchy natureofths leak towards the surface, and also for certain portions of the worked ground which could not be measured. In the northers ands of the workings there are frequent indications of an increase of lode, and I believe an extension of the hard (40 feet lower), where it is 2 feet 6 inches in thickness and increasing, and which should a mail i

This Company is being formed for the purpose of working the lodes existing it an area of 80 acres, on a lesse of twenty-one years. It has already been tried and proved to be one of the richest proporties in the colony.

THE LODR CAM HE TRACED FOIL UPWARDS OF TWO MILES.

A shaft is down to the depth of 70 feet; the lode 7 feet wide, with an underlay to the west 1 foot in 6 feet. A straight shaft is at present being anni, as it is the intention of the Proprietors to cross-cut at 100 feet. It is situated at Perce's Creek, Tuena, about sixty miles from Goullurn, and nine niles from the Peelwood, and close to the main road to Goullurn. Competent judges, who have already visited and inspected this mine, ascert that they have not seen anything in the solony showing such splendid indications of a rich lode, and, judging from the samples, which can be inspected at the Office of the Brokers, and at the Exchange, this opinion is fully borne cut.

The Claims having been purchased under most favourable circumstances (before the claim known as Williams' was under offer to the public, honce the very low price of the Great Victoria), and the capital required being small, it will at once be obvious that the dividends will have a corresponding ratio, and will not be so wisely distributed as in companies with much larger capitals.

IT IS CONFIDENTLY BELIEVED THAT DIVI-DENIS MAY BE EXPECTED WITHIN FOUR MONTHS.

O L F AROMATIC SCHEIDAM SCHNAPPS

SCHEIDAM SCHNAPPS

It is an indisputable fact that the advantages of this perfectly pure beverage have now rendered it the most largely consumed of any imported spirit, the demand throughout the whole of the Australian colonies almost exceeding the capability of the proprietor to supply. Welle's Schnapps is now occupying the place held in past years by inferior brands of geneva, the medical prission testifying to its excellence over these and other sedulernted spirits, including French brandy, in no less than TEN THOUSAND LETTERS, which are in the possession of the manufacturer, all certifying to its perfect purity and marked superiority over every other stimulant as a diurctic, tonic, and restorative. The Resident Physician of the Sydney Infirmary says:

"I have no hesitation in stating that I consider your Schnapps a most excellent stimulant and diurctic."

The Government Analytical Chemics, Melbourne, says:

"As a sample of hollands gin, I do not think it can be surpassed. It may be recommended for use in hospital and private practice as a good aromatic stimulant."

An injunction against the sale of a counterfeited article has recently been granted in the Supreme Court of New Seuth Wales, under a penalty of £30,000; and we are instructed, with a view to protect the public, to prosecute any one offering for sale any initiation of the genuine brand, for which we are the sole Wholesale Agents for the whole of Australia and New Zoaland.

It may be prescribed for the most delicine young founder, whose development has been retarded; for women suffering from stemach complaints, ancems; for pale and sickly shiddren, deprived of appetite; and, as its principal action is to restore to impovershed blood the iron in which it is deficient, and to the bones the phosphate that forms their base; it is recommended for debilisted persons, whether their debility proceeds from discuss or any other cosmo. Its use is always attended with tarryising results.

SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME.

An excellent remedy for all affections of the chest. It relieves coughs, effectually prevents nocturinal perspiration, and restores the patient's strength. This syvup is the only use which, ever since 1867, has invariably been attended with antifactory results, a fact due to the purity of the hypophosphite employed. Be sure to observe that it bears the signature "GHIMAULT and CO."

The effect of the Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime is inseressed by the Pectoral Lossages of Lactuarium and Cherry Laure), prepared by Grimault and Co.

PEPSINE DIGESTIVE POWDERS, ELIXIR, and WINE.

Pepsine is one of the most recent scientific discoveries in the property of digestion, it persesses the property of digestion by its own innate virtues. It removes all the inconveniences of the difficult digestion, and even prevents natuse.

The recentles on Pepsine made at the College of France by Dr. Leconts, in conjunction with Professor Claude Bernard, must secure the preference for our preparation of Perseine.

INDIAN CIGARETTES OF CANNABIS

All the means hitherto employed to relieve Asthma have been only palliatives in varied forms based on belladonns, strumonium, nicotians, or opium. Recent experiments sadd in the Paris hospitals have proved that our Cigarettes, made of the extract of Indian Henup, poseess remarkable virtues against this complaint, as well as against nervous saughs, chronic largyngitis, hoarseness, loss of voice, facial neuralgia, and insomonia.

A single powder of this vegetable production is sufficient to cure instantly the most violent sick beadsche. It is the most valuable remody against diarrhoss, dysentery, and all disorders proceeding from derangement of the stomach or bowels. This powder is indispensable for all families, and far more efficacious than opium and sub-nitrate of bisnuth.

Bank of New South Wides.

In issuing the prospectus of the above Company, which is being formed for the purpose of purchasing the claims known as Proves and party, and Woodward and party, comprising 3 leases of the extent of 563 feet or thereshouts, on the line of reet known as the Crown of the Old Resd, Adelong, the promoters are convinced that nothing safer, or effering a better return for capital, has ever been brought before the public as a mining invostment.

This valuable mining property adjoints on the south the celebrated claims known as Hargraves and Co., Crown of the Old Reef Company, Adelong, which have been for many years before the mining community as one of the best and most permanent reefs in the Australian colonies, and for which during the period of two years (from May, 1857, to July, 1859) the yield of gold amounted to 44,450 cm., authenticated by statistics from the Colonial Mining Journal, published in Melbourne, July, 1859, as per following returns:—

To which may be added 15,843 or, of gold taken within same period from the adjoining claims, making a total yield of 60,293 or, of gold in the two years.

It will be seen from the above statistics that the richer stone, averaging 8 or, to 3700 tons of quartz raised, was obtained from the reof running south into Prowes and Woodward's claims, and the stone now being raised (of which there are nearly 200 tons at grass) is from the same rich reof, showing aplendid gold in almost every piece of stone.

There are two shafts down 240 and 270 feet respectively, from which the present proprietors are raising rich stone, the reef widening in some portions of the drive to 4 feet, the whole body of stone carrying good gold. The reef has been driven upon north and south about 165 feet, and so far proved exceedingly rich.

The stone at grass will become the property of the Company, cost of raising to be deducted.

The promoters deem it unnecessary to give any lengthy description of this property, it being so well known, and the statistics of former crushings given above will be sufficient guarantee of the value and permanency of the mine. A large number of shares have been already applied for by local and Sydney readents, and the share its will only crusian open until WEDNESDAY, the 22nd instant, and punctually close at 4 pm, on that day.

No applications will be received for any less number than 250 shares in this Company.

In a rich mine of the character of the above, it is not deemed necessary to place an amount to credit of company for working expenses, when there is so large a sum at once available from the stone at grass, which present proprietors give up to the Company; but in order to place, the Company in funds for working expenses, the prosent proprietors advance £1000, to be placed to the credit of the Company, to be refunded from the first crushing.

The Sydney Morning Berald.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 18, 1873.

In the Legislature Assembly, yesterday,— Ministers stated in answer to questions, 1. That Mr. James Burns, formerly station master at East Mailland, had been disrated in consequence of insubordination to Mr. Moody, the Traffic Manager, and that the charge of insubordination, which was made by Mr. Moody, was proved by documentary evidence.
2. That a boy named Amel Morris was, at his own request, apprenticed from the Vernon to Mr. Johnston.
3. free selector, near Kangaloon, and that he was killed by a wild bull, the property of Mr. Johnston. 3. That it appeared from the report of the local officers that the bridge over Evans' Plains Creek, on the road between Bathurat and Orange, was not in a dangerous state.

Mr. Butlers and Mr. Lloyn laid on the table dif ferent returns, which were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Burlers moved for the production of a copy of the report of the Board appointed by the Colonial Secretary to superintend the test to which the fireproof safes, supplied to the Government by Mr.
Thomas Wearne, were publicly subjected in Belmore Gardens. The motion was agreed to.

The petitions presented on the previous day, relating to the Mining Bill, the condition of Liverpool Road, and the Bridge over Mackintyre River, were ordered to be printed.

Sir James Mariti moved the adjournment of the House to correct a statement in an article in the Heald of that day, to the effect that the amount of revenue received from the Border Duties during the list quarter was only £16,500. The hone gentleman quoted from the returns laid on the table by the Government to prove that the revenue for the previous quarter amounted to £21,982 3s. 3d., being at the rate of upwards of £85,000 per annum.
He next remarked upon the circumstance that a railway accident recently occurred at the Zigag, and said that the report into the cause of the accident ought to be made public. He thought it was probable the accident was the result of carelessness in coupling the carriages. He also drew the attention of the Governmen to be removed.

Mr. SUPHERLIAND said that he had not yet received the written report on the accident at the Zigrag, but he had been verbally informed that it was owing to carelessness in coupling the carriages.

Mr. J. S. SEITH took advantage of the motion for the adjournment to deny the statement of the hom. the Minister for Works that Evans Plains Bridge was not in a dangerous state. He said that the traffic was interrupted by the dispidated condition of the bridge, and that it demanded the early attention of the Government.

Mr. LLOYN laid on the table a complete return of the Border Customs' Revenue.

Mr. Wans confirmed the statements of the hon-member for Wellington (Mr. J. S. Smith) in reference to Evans Plains Bridge, and also commented upon the neglect by the Government of the road from Kelso to Macquarie Plains.

Mr. SUTBBRLAND explained that Evans Plains
Bridge was being repaired, and that it was the intention of the Government to extend the Western Railway to Raglan on the last March

way to Ragian on the 1st March Mr. Cummons attributed the delays in repairing the reads in the western districts to the inclemency of the weather. The motion for the adjournment of the House was then put and negatived.

The adjourned debate on the resolution of Mr.
Foustran in reference to the Public Schools Act, and the amendment moved by Mr. Parkes, was resumed by Mr. Stawastr, who contended that the Public Schools Act was passed with the object of promoting sound secular primary education, and of repressing the extension of the Denominational system. He explained the difficulties which had to be overcome by the supporters of secular education in getting the Act passed; the most tormidable being the opposition of the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church, and he argued that its greatest defects consisted in the amendments recognising Denominational schools, which were introduced when the Act was in committee, in the hope that the Denominational schools, which were introduced when the Act was in
committee, in the hope that the Denominational schools, which were introduced when the Act was in committee, in the hope that the Denominations of the House on the Granfell Roman Catholic school
of the House on the Granfell Roman Catholic school
of the House on the Granfell Roman Catholic school
public education being made entirely secular and free from sectarian influence.

Mr. Bakus concessed the resolution of the hon ment of the House on the Grenfell Roman Cathous sensor case, and hoped it would be carried as preliminary to public education being made entirely secular and free from sectarian influence.

Mr. Baxen opposed the resolution of the hon, member for Illawarra, because he thought that the Act ought not to be made entirely secular, and because he could not see any reasonable objection to Scripture lessons, to which no exception could be taken by any Christian denomination, being read in the Public Schools. He intended to vote for the amendment of the hon, the Colonial Secretary.

Mr. Buchanan supported the original motion at great length, contending that, as State-aid to religion had been abolished it was inconsistent to grant the funds of the State for Denominational education, the primary function of which was to instill into the rainds of the young, reversace for, and belief in, sectarian principles, and it might be, in superstitious nonsense. The Denominational element was the worst part of the Public Schools Act, and its elimination from the Act would be a gwat boon to the community, of which fact no one was more fully convinced than the hon, the Colonial Secretary, though it suited him under present circumstances to stand by the Act, with all its objectionab eleatures. He exhorted the House to pass the original motion, which he maintained would only be in keeping with enlightened movements in other parts of the word to establish public education on a secular basis, which in Victoria and Queensland had been eminently successful, despite the baneful influence of the Roman Catholic clergy, and other supporters of Denominational education.

Mr. Macistrost was in favour of secular education believing that the teaching of religion ought to devolve upon the patents and clergy; but the did not like either the motion or the amendment before the House. He would be guided in his vote by explanations which he expected would be forthcoming

House. He would be guided in his vote by ex-planations which he expected would be forthcoming before the close of the debate.

Mr. Gakrart moved the adjournment of the de-bate till Tuesday, which was opposed by Mr. Parkes. On the House dividing, it was found that the votes were coust.

On the House dividing, it was found that the votes were equal.

Mr Spraker, in order to give the House an opportunity of again considering the question of adjournment, declared his vote with the noes.

Mr. Oakes next moved the adjournment of the House, which was put and negatived.

Mr. Rosenson then moved the adjournment of the debate till Tuesday, and that it take precedence of the orders of the day, which was agreed to.

The House then adjourned at forty-nine minutes paat 10 to 4 o'clock on Monday next.

WHEN Mr. WENTWORTH proposed a nominee Legislative Council, he was met with numer-ous objections. Some of these are so obviously on one side of the question that they could not be met but by considering the other side To some persons the whole was exceedingly some persons the whole was exceedingly simple, namely, to dispense with the Council as people commonly do with the fifth wheel of a coach, which is supposed only to increase the friction. Their theory was very plain and as old as Abbé Sirwss. If both Chambers are in accord, one of them is useless. If they are divided, one of them does not represent the will of the people. It is a not represent the will of the people. It is a confiscation of sovereignty. What would be thought, it is asked, of a mechanician who would create an obstacle for the purpose of some who strongly urged the establishment of one Chamber as better qualified to represent the people having equal rights, the same franchise, and able one as well as another to give a sound opinion upon public affairs. When, how-ever, it was admitted that two Chambers were necessary (the conclusion of almost all states-men in every country enjoying liberty), it thes became a question for those who opposed Mr. WENTWONTH's measure what they would put in its place. His doctrine was that a nominated House would be supplied by prerogative, but under the guarantee of constitutional govern-ment, that the English scheme was the best, since a permanent disagreement would be obviated by the Crown, under the advice of the Ministers of the day, by new creations. He thought that persons having such a trust and holding it for life would be above the transitory passions of political parties, and thus would hold in check the violence of faction. Among those who gave their opinion on the proper composition of an Upper House, there were some who indulged the passion for constitution making of which Sieves was a grand example. One of our Judges recommended a titled nobility. One of our clergymen proposed an ecclesiastical and landed corporation. A large qualification, say £10,000, was required by others. It was the notion of some that councillors should be selected by a landed aristocracy as possessing a permanence which they rather fondly con-founded with the durability of land. They were to be chosen in some cases for many years, and in others they were to hold their seats by a tenure little differing from that of the Assembly. Great ingenuity and invention were displayed in these discussions, though it never would possible for the human mind to furnish such a multiplicity of plans as those which floated on the first French Revolution, and dis-

Had Mr. Wentworth seen the course which would be taken by the colonies, he would doubtless have hesitated in his plan. At all events, he would have seen more clearly than most men do when they enter upon a path which is to lead to nothing, before he had given himself the labour of carrying that measure. He had an ideal very distinct from that which enchants a multitude. He supposed that the people who were manifestly unfit for legislation would gladly resign it to those who were, and that those boasted unfit for legislation would gladly resign it to those who were, and that those boasted Parliamentary displays which enabled Sydney to compare with a greater country would supply men capable of working out Wantworth's Constitution. We shall not repeat what we formerly stated in reference to his appreciation of his work, when he came to view it applied by his successors. But the mischief was done beyond reparation when the constitution of the Upper House was turned into a farce; and when was shown this practical exemplification of what Ministers. turned into a farce; and when was shown this practical exemplification of what Ministers would do if permitted by the Crown, when opposed by a majority in the Upper Chamber. The men who have possessed the right of nomination have been restrained by an influence which must necessarily yield to time, and when-ever the power granted by the Constitution shall be held compatible with it in practice, the Upper House will be the least powerful body in the country. There is a Synod, an Assembly, a Conference, and they all possess a real power; but a nominated Chamber, subject to the absolute will of a Minister, would possess none whatever. There are some things which men of just principles and moderate spirit will not do, although they may possess the power to do them. But we should be extremely puzzled to imagine anything that we have not had Ministers equal to if strongly tempted.

The choice of a second Chamber in the American States resides with the voters, whe select the first, rarely with any difference of American States resides with the voters, who select the first, rarely with any difference of qualification, commonly with some difference of duration. It must, however, be remembered that the thirty-seven States have no part in general government excepting as they choose the Senate by a special election. There is less room, therefore, for agitation, and the great prizes are at Washington. We cannot, therefore, see how the system will act where each colony assumes most of the functions of an Imperial State. An elective Upper Chamber with a high qualification in Victoria has often been in peril of extinction as is now our nominated House. We may assume that the policy of the colonies will be gradually to reduce our Legislature to the model of the American States, that they will cheose all their officers civil and military, that they will elect their own Judges by tary, that they will elect their own Judges by temporary choice and make them removable at pleasure. The kind of influence the Legislature will exercise upon the Courts of law may be inferred from that long string of notices in which libels are published at the public expense.

Looking at the proposal of Mr. PARKES, and Looking at the proposal of Mr. Parkes, and considering our past experience, the character of our Assembly, and the temper of the colonies, we do not think he can be censured for an immoderate change. Whether the two elements will prove satisfactory in a legislative view they at least have the sanction of a former example, though with this great difference, that the Council which contained one-third nominated members treated them as a normal element to hold the balance of the Constitution; while in the plan of Mr. of the Constitution; while in the plan of Mr.
PARKES they are treated like ancient incumbrances which would be beneficial to remove but necessary to tolerate, not for the sake of the country but their own.

the country but their own.

Mr. Parkes considers that the country is opulent in statesmanship, and that another seventy legislators would be easily collected. It is useless to combat beliefs based on boundless patriotism, and nothing else. But one thing Mr. Parkes may be perfectly assured of, that if he collects together large bett of setting means account. assured of, that it he conecus together a large body of elective members separated into two Houses, it will be expedient at once to contribute largely to their support. If they receive £300 a year each, and certainly they will not be able to live upon less in pleasant relations with the tailor and spirit merchant, a considerable sum must be placed on the Estimates. Mr. PARKES asserts that a second Chamber could be formed, just as good, of the surplus candidates as of those actually chosen. We have but little doubt all essential conditions. Unless they were equally paid, there would be an essential difference between those who were aspirants to office and all its advantages, and those who would be expected to be contented with their nominal superiority as legislative councillors. If all were paid, they would require upon the scale we have mentioned over £40,000 annually. This, however, would be only the taste which excites the appetite and prepares for the enjoyment of the feast. Our readers will perceive we are not very enthusiastic partisans of the change. We believe that the best service any man can render to the colony is to act difference between those who were aspirants to the change. We believe that the best service any man can render to the colony is to act upon the belief that organic change can do little or nothing in our state of affairs. The people have a heavy burden to carry, and though they will find some relief in changing it from one shoulder to another, its weight will temain pretty nearly the same.

A New Opera House.—The want of a suitable place of anusement of this description has been recently brought before the public of Sydney. The difficulty appears to be in obtaining a suitable site, of sufficient extent to meet all the requirements requisite, such as a stage equal to the production of spectacular effects, and an auditorium fitted with the most modern improvements. The necessity of having means of egross so as to allow the sudience to leave the building in the shortest space of time possible, has also formed an important requisite with those who have had the subject under consideration. Efforts are now being made—by advertisement and otherwise—to obtain a site, and, in the event of this being secured, it is the intention of the projectors to obtain the services of Mr. Browne, who lately designed the Theatre Royal, Melbeurne, and if possible to improve upon that building.

THE METROPOLITAN INTERCOLONIAL EXHIBITION, SYDWEY, APRIL, 1873. The Agricultural Society of New South Wales have commenced active preparations for the coming event. The Standing Committee are already advertising for competent persons willing to act as udges, and calling upon members of the society to forward he names and addresses of such persons. The selection of udges is undoubtedly the most important matter now before the Comneil. It behaves every member to assist in the choice of efficient judges. Certificates of entry in the various sections are now ready for distribution, as well as copies of the rules and by-laws of the Exhibition. The judging of wines and wool will take place in the beginning of April. Exhibitors in these two important sections have no time to lose.

From what we can learn, it seems that the 6.30 up train to Goelong arrived as the Buninyong station at the usual time, a little before 7 this morning, and that there were in the train five trucks for Buninyong station that required shunting from off the main line on the siding. Those "ompties" were disposed of in the usual manner; the "frying shunt," that is to say, the trucks to be shunted from the main line, are destached from the train and pushed on to the requisite sleng between the locanotive is stopped, and the loose trucks are allowed to go on by themselves, the impetus given being sufficient to carry them the required distance along the siding. How Children are "fixed" On to the offered by magnistrates for parents shirking their duty to their children, and passing them over to the State. Various and persistent are the means adopted by some family people to get their offspring provided for by a two paternal Government. The latest dodge is thus described in the Ressess Herald, which as usual proved successful;—

"Hugh Lang, a small boy with shaven head, was brought before the Bench as a neglected child. This was comewhere about the tenth time he had been brought before the Court. At first his father was the prosecutor, saying that he could do nothing at all with the boy. The Bench poolposhed the idea, but the furee was, nevertheless, reported about three times. At last the Bench declared that they would hear no more of the matter. The boy at that time had a shock head of his, but his father shaved it close, so as to change his appearance almost entirely, and then allowed him to go about his basiness. A day or two afterwards sentior-constable batten found him asleep in an old case in the Eastern Market, at 2 in the morning. The Bench did not recognise the boy when househyth before them, and instructed Dalton to make inquirities about his percents. Dulton found them out with much twouble, in Carlton, and was coolly told that they did not want to have anything to do with the boy.
Delton reported this in legal form to the Bench, and they ordered that the proper steps should be taken to bring the great deal better than home. The Bench sent him to the laduatival Schools for seven years; and thus have his percent builted him off confortably.

THE LATE FATAL FIGHT IN TASMANIA.—At the Suprue Court, Launceston, on the 10th instant, Soton Williams, Charles Field, and Charles Watson were brought up charged with manslaughter, by having caused the death of Thomas Lindsay Field, on the 21st December. The cidence taken added very little to the particulars already given of this launchable occurrence. The jury, after an absence of nearly three hours, returned a vertice of "Not guilty" signated all the defendants. The Hobart Toren Mercray observes:—"What will those outside Tasmania think of the vertice!" On reading through the evidence, and the charge of the learned Judge, it appears to have been clearly against evidence.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENTS.—The Manafield Guarcies states that on Monday, 6th January, at Glen Creek, a man neared Moffatt, with others, was resping a crop for Mr Lawther with a machine. Having completed the work, they were perparing to go away, Moffatt sitting on the shaft of the machine, which was standing on a sideling, wating for his mates, who were approaching with a horse and dray. When near Moffatt, one of them sang out, and the horse attached to the machine, being young and restive, made a sudden start, which overturned the respingmachine on Moffatt, the knife passing across his abdormen, and cutting him open, mutitating him in a most rightful manner. The unfortunate man was conveyed to the Manafield Hospital, and after lingering in the institution

A WRRTCHED END.—We take the following deployable account of the death of a Chinaman from the Merylewoogh Identitier (Victoria) of 13th instant:—One of those peor half-starved Chinamen so frequently to be met with in all miring townships, and who look the picture of misory as they are seen trudging along with a little refuse meat attached to a string, was discovered dead in his but on Friday, under peculiarly horrible circumstances. The but itself was unwholesome, low, and slinking, so much so that it was hardly possible to approach the corpec, which was in a very conscisted state, covered with ants and vermin, which had eaten into various portions of the body. Information was conveyed to the district coroner, who instituted an inquiry into the matter on Friday, when the following evidence was taken:—Michael O'Donnell deposed: I am a semior-constable, stationed at Chinaman's Flat; about I o'clock yesterday afternoon I received information that a Chinaman was lying dead in his but, near the Heef; I went and found the body, which I now identify, and which is the subject of this inquiry, lying in a but on a stretcher; there were marks on the face and body, and the surface of it was literally covered with ants: I, with constable Buchanan, had to use bushes to beat the ants of, so that we could move the body to where it now lies; the body was very much emaciated, and evered with vermin; the but was also in a fifthy condition; from appearances deceased had been ill and neglected some time; the door of the hut was closed by means of a shoval being placed against it from the inside; the property I found ther I produce. Robert Henry Dunn deposed: I am legally qualified to practice medicine in this colony, and reside at Maryborough; I have this day made a post-scortes examination of the body of deceased; externally, the body presented a very emaciated appearance; portions of the right eyelid and upper lip were quite saten away, I believe by ants; the skin on the left side, almost from the neck to A WRETCHED END.—We take the following his life would have been prolonged, if not saved.

Anecdote of Sir John Franklin,—Mrs. Herbertson, the landlady of the inn on Grass Tree Hill (says the Hobert Tone Mercury), was Lady Franklin's stirndant on the memorable occasion when she accompanied for John on their overland journey to Macquarie Harbour. The party took no more provisions with them than would last across this harren, rocky, serubby, forbidding, and almost impenetrable country, but a schooner, the Louis, I think out hockes called her, was sen round the coast with a fresh supply. It so happened, however, that the weather was no stormy when the vessel arrived at the entrance of the harbour, that she could not cross the bar, and meantime the people on shore were rationed at something like a bissuit a day. This state of things made the prisoner servants at inst surily, and at last so dissatisfied that Sir John thought it time to interfere. "Now, my good fellows," said the noble old mavigator, as he stood up amongst them with his lands behind him, head a little backwards, and cyce closed, now how the sure of complaining against what cannot be helped? We see not absolutely starving yet. And bear in mind, men, you are lay no means so badly off as I was when I boiled and ate my becots in the Arctic regions." This lad a magic effect on the grumblers, for they laughed, returned contented to their tents, roasted limpets and mussels, and wasted patiently till the ship came in.

CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING.

Redward Witherington, Robert M'Dougal, Frank John, and Thomas Newton were charged with unlawfullyshipping, resetting, and detaining an board the Kaie Grant, without his consent, at Feulofferty (an island in the Pacific Ocean), one Puama, a native of Newton.

Author Harman recalled deposed: I left Fiji for Sydney on the 21st Docember last; the Government of Fiji is under King Thakoabau; he is a native chief; it is under a European or, delillade power.

Roger Turple deposed: I am a master mariner in command of the John Williams missionary ship; I have traded for some time in the Pacific; I know an island in the Pacific Ocean called Nutan; it is one of Elies's group; I have been ashore there; it is not under the jurisdiction of any civilized power, although the natives are in a high state of evilluation, that is to say they are to a great extent educated; I know an island called Feuloferty; it is another of the Ellic's group; it is not under any civilized power, but the natives are highly civilized; the governments of both these islands are under native chiefs; I have been ashore at both of them.

Cross-examined by Mr. Merriman: Nutan is a day or a day or a day and a-half's sail from Feuloferty; I think a threat, that if a native did not come no board two other natives, ownly be fixed to first native, oppicially if he was not a native of the island upon which he was a resident; it would not if he was upon his hattive island, as his people would be more likely to protect him.

THE HAY HORPITAL.—The proprietary of the "nasntle of almse," which was generally supposed to be sonfined to certain members of the Assembly, has, it appears, been extended to the far off town of Hay!—'Hay (exclaims the Wages Express) passessess an hospital, and, like other towns with a similar institution, does not enjoy complete immunity from those poculiar difficulties incidental to the management of the white elephant. An animated little secting took place about ten days ago, and was chiefly noteworthy for the active disposition manifested by everybody to differ from everybody clae. Mr. Pearce, P.M., occupied the chair, and the gathering is mainly interesting for an annual meeting took place thereta.—'Proceeding from the fact that a very 'unconstitutional' proceeding from the fact that a very 'unconstitutional' proceeding for an annual meeting took place thereta.—'Proceeding which is unanimonally denounced by those who are not only learned in procedure of the kind, but like to show it, for circumstances had conspired to render the gregaration of the usual reports a matter of some difficulty. It was therefore suggested that the meeting be postponed with the accounts be produced, whereupon an iraceible smallesses jumped up and demanded to know what right the chairman had to call the meeting until the accounts were prepared. Later in the evening these little pleasantries were further carried on, for when the chairman asked the same gentleman whether he was a contributor to the hospital, the reply was that "he gave £16, and that was more than the chairment gave." This was, of course, very satisfactory as being indicative of a strong desire upon the speaker's part mot to permit his right hand to know what his left hand had done.
